The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, W. O. Tavenner, of Manassas, Va., wore a nine traveling su't and carried a large bouquet of lillies of the valley and sweet peas.

The bride was attended by Miss Etta Taggart, a sister of the bridegroom, who had for his best man Mr. Linn.

Owing to a recent death in the famility of the bridegroom, the ceremony was a very quiet affair, attended only by relatives and a few close friends. Mr Taggart and his bride left immediately after the ceremony for Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon.

see them in private, the Emperor over-whelined with expressions of grati-tude his two generals for their de-vetion and readiness of resource on his behalf. (Copyright, 1312, by the Brentwood Company.)

Through the activities of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, it is expense that this year will see the first gen that this year will see the first general observance of "Tuberculesis SunGay" in Richmond churches, although the idea was inaugurated here to a small extent last year. The movement for a nation-wide observance of a particular day in the year, to be set aside for the discussion of the cure and prevention of the white plague, was originated several years ago by the antituberculosis secieties working in cooperation for the annihilation of the dread disease.

From a very insignificent, beginning operation for the annihilation of the dread disease.

From a very insignificant beginning, the movement has spread until this year it is confidently expected that fully 500,000 people will hear a discussion of the prevention of tuberculosis Sunday morning from the pulpits of America. Every minister in Richmond has received a request to speak on this theme, and a large number have consented. The prevention of this disease, which annually claims 5,000 victims in Virginia, will receive special attention, although the cure of the plague will also be discussed.

Special efforts are being made this year to interest the colored ministers in this event because of the prevalence of tuberculosis among the negroes. In Richmond every colored minister will preach on this subject Sanday, and the same is true in a great many other Southern cities. In addition, literature on the prevention of tuberculosis, furnished by the State Anti-Tuberculosis Association, will be distributed after the service.
